NBCUniversal Faces Questions After a Firing

FROM FIRST BUSINESS PAGE

Will Mr. Roberts pursue a sale or a full acquisition of the streaming service Hulu, which NBCUniversal owns jointly with Disney?

And will the NBC broadcast network give up an hour of its prime-time lineup and hand it over to local affiliates, or begin negotiations for broadcast rights for the National Basketball Association?

NBCUniversal is far from being in dire straits. It is the home of fabled institutions like “Saturday Night Live” and “Today,” as well as lucrative franchises like “Despicable Me” and “The Real Housewives.” It generated $39 billion in revenue last year, a 14 percent increase from the year before.

But the company also owns several cable networks such as USA and Bravo that are hemorrhaging viewers. Its streaming service, Peacock, is growing quickly but still has far fewer subscribers than many of its competitors and is projected to lose $3 billion this year.

These issues, which have been looming for months, were brought back to the forefront after Mr. Shell’s sudden departure. Comcast announced on Sunday that Mr. Shell was leaving the company after an investigation into a complaint of “inappropriate conduct.”

His exit came after Hadley Gamble, a senior international correspondent at CNBC, had filed an internal complaint that leveled accusations of sexual harassment and sex discrimination, according to her lawyer, Suzanne McKie. Comcast executives began an investigation after Ms. Gamble filed the complaint in late March. On Monday, the company said in a filing Mr. Shell had been fired after an investigation corroborated accusations of sexual harassment.

Mr. Roberts and Mr. Cavanagh met with Mr. Shell at the offices of a law firm in Philadelphia on Friday and told Mr. Shell he was being fired, according to two people with knowledge of the internal discussions who were not authorized to speak publicly.

Mr. Shell was taken aback by the sudden turn of events. He had been meeting with lawmakers in Washington in the days leading up to his firing, and making plans to attend the White House Correspondents’ Association dinner on Saturday, according to two people familiar with the matter. He has hired a high-profile crisis communications expert, Risa Heller, and a well-known lawyer.

Mr. Shell declined to comment on the circumstances of his departure but said in a statement that he was “profoundly upset with how much pain and embarrassment I have brought to my family.”

“I am solely focused on making amends to them,” Mr. Shell said.

Comcast is still looking into elements of Ms. Gamble’s complaint related to sexual discrimination, according to two people familiar with the investigation.

Comcast declined to comment on the investigation.

Mr. Roberts has sought to reassure investors since Mr. Shell’s departure. On the earnings call on Thursday, he made a brief statement in support of Mr. Cavanagh and NBCUniversal’s executives.

He praised NBCUniversal’s bench of veteran leaders, and said Mr. Cavanagh would “step in at the helm” of the company while remaining president of Comcast after a “tough moment.”

Comcast’s share price rose about 10 percent after the company’s earnings call on Thursday.

In a show of support, Mr. Roberts joined Mr. Cavanagh in New York for NBCUniversal’s executive committee meeting, which Mr. Shell used to run, according to three people with knowledge of the gathering. During the meeting, Mr. Cavanagh reassured assembled leaders that he would be there for the foreseeable future. Next week, Mr. Cavanagh is expected to head out to Los Angeles to meet with West Coast executives.

There is a consensus among executives at NBCUniversal that Mr. Shell’s departure will not greatly affect the company’s TV, film and news assets in the short term. Mr. Shell’s biggest decisions needed approval from Mr. Cavanagh and Mr. Roberts, who have final say on the big issues facing the company. “I don’t think the business is going to miss a beat,” Mr. Cavanagh said during the earnings call.

Mr. Cavanagh is unlikely to give up responsibilities across the broader Comcast empire, which includes cable and wireless businesses, and he is widely believed to be the most likely internal candidate to succeed Mr. Roberts. A full-time job running just NBCUniversal would in some ways be a demotion. He is the only president in the company’s history who doesn’t belong to the Roberts family, which controls Comcast.

Still, some executives at NBCUniversal think the media assets need a dedicated leader. There are too many decisions to be taken across a wide variety of businesses — including theme parks, film studios and TV programming — as well as more existential decisions to be made for it to be anyone’s part-time job.

Mr. Cavanagh believes that Comcast has a stronger hand than many of its competitors in the media industry, which include Disney and Warner Bros. Discovery. Profits from Comcast’s broadband and wireless businesses insulate the company somewhat from the ad sales slump affecting many of its peers, giving it cash to invest in streaming.

And NBCUniversal’s movie studio and theme parks businesses are growing, with recent bright spots including the opening of “Super Nintendo World” at Universal Studios and the release of “The Super Mario Bros. Movie,” which has been a hit at the box office. On Thursday, Comcast said its profits grew slightly in the first quarter despite a decrease in ad revenue and slower growth in its broadband business.

The speculation that Mr. Roberts and Mr. Cavanagh might spin off NBCUniversal has swirled for months, fueled by reports that they considered combining the company with the video game studio Electronic Arts last year. With many of NBCUniversal’s rivals teaming up to beef up their streaming businesses, some analysts have speculated that Mr. Roberts and Mr. Cavanagh are hunting for another big deal.

One potential target discussed by analysts is Warner Bros. Discovery, the newly minted media colossus created by the fusion of WarnerMedia — owner of HBO and the Warner Bros. movie studio and Discovery, owner of cable networks like HGTV and TLC.

Craig Moffett, a senior managing director of the SVB MoffettNathanson research firm, said that such a deal could give the combined company enough heft to pay for all the movies and TV shows that would win over enough subscribers to make the service profitable. “But most Comcast investors hate that idea,” he added.

“I think Mike will inevitably put his stamp on the business,” Mr. Moffett said, “and in this case that inevitably means some role for mergers and acquisitions, or divestitures.”

Newsmax, the niche conservative news channel that has long played David to Fox News’s Goliath, has seized on Tucker Carlson’s shock dismissal from its rival network and declared itself the true TV home for right-wing Americans.

So far, the strategy is showing some promise.

Viewership of Newsmax remains far below that of Fox News. But its audience at certain hours has doubled, and in some time slots tripled, in the immediate aftermath of Mr. Carlson’s exit — an abrupt spike that has turned heads in conservative circles and the cable news industry.

On Monday evening, Eric Bolling’s 8 p.m. Newsmax program drew 531,000 viewers, according to Nielsen. One week earlier, it had 146,000. On Tuesday, Mr. Bolling’s audience grew to 562,000 viewers, equal to about 80 percent of Anderson Cooper’s CNN viewership that evening. Newsmax’s other prime-time shows also experienced big jumps.

The sharp rise in viewership can be timed almost to the minute of Fox News’s announcement on Monday that it was parting ways with Mr. Carlson, in part because of private messages sent by the anchor that included offensive and crude remarks.

Executives at Newsmax quickly sensed an opportunity.

Starting on Monday, Newsmax programming has aggressively pushed a narrative that Mr. Carlson’s dismissal was a capitulation to the left by Fox News and the Murdoch family.

One pundit mused on the air that Lachlan Murdoch, the executive chairman of the Fox Corporation, was “much more liberal” than his father, Rupert. Andrew Napolitano, a Newsmax pundit who was fired by Fox News in 2021 over a harassment allegation, said Fox News dismissing its top-rated anchor “is like the 1927 Yankees firing Babe Ruth for his table manners —

SCOTT MCINTYRE FOR THE NEW YORK TIMES

“Fox has been moving to embrace more of an establishment position,” said Christopher Ruddy, the Newsmax chief.

I don’t get it.”

Anchors and guests harped on a recent appearance by Representative Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, a New York Democrat, in which she called for Mr. Tucker’s firing. “A.O.C. speaks, and now Fox listens,” grumbled the Newsmax anchor Chris Salcedo. “These really are end times.”

By Thursday morning, the network was inviting viewers to vote in a poll: “Is it right for Fox News to fire Tucker Carlson?”

“Fox has been moving to embrace more of an establishment position,” Newsmax’s chief executive, Christopher Ruddy, said in an interview on Thursday. “They want to renounce some of the Trumpisms and populist MAGA stuff that Tucker was echoing.” Mr. Ruddy said he preferred to “embrace all sides of the Republican Party.”

Over all, Newsmax remains a ratings minnow. On Tuesday evening, “Hannity” on Fox News drew 2.1 million viewers; “The Ingraham Angle” attracted 1.6 million. Fox News has pointed to Nielsen data showing that in the first three months of the year, it was the highest-rated network across all of cable TV. And the network has bounced back from losing stars like Bill O’Reilly and Glenn Beck.

But the absence of Mr. Carlson, its biggest prime-time star, has been felt.

On Tuesday, Fox News lost to both CNN and MSNBC in the 8 p.m. hour among adults ages 25 to 54, an exceedingly rare defeat for the network in the key demographic for cable news advertisers. The “Fox & Friends” co-host Brian Kilmeade, sitting in for Mr. Carlson, fell short to Mr. Cooper on CNN and Chris Hayes on MSNBC in that coveted demographic, although he was first in total viewership.

Newsmax is surging shortly after Fox News paid $787.5 million to settle a defamation lawsuit brought by Dominion Voting Systems, an election technology firm. Evidence in that case showed that Fox News executives were deeply concerned by Newsmax’s growth

F.B.I. Searches Home of a Former Top Executive at FTX

By MATTHEW GOLDSTEIN and DAVID YAFFE-BELLANY

The F.B.I. carried out a search on Thursday morning at the Potomac, Md., home of Ryan Salame, a former FTX executive who was a major campaign contributor to Republican political candidates, two people with knowledge of the matter said.

Mr. Salame, who ran FTX’s Bahamian subsidiary, was part of the close circle of advisers around Sam Bankman-Fried, the cryptocurrency exchange’s founder, before the firm filed for bankruptcy in November.

Federal prosecutors have charged Mr. Bankman-Fried with orchestrating a vast fraud and illegal campaign finance scheme at FTX. He has pledged to fight the charges. Three of his former top executives have pleaded guilty in connection with the investigation and agreed to cooperate against their former boss.

Mr. Salame has been under particular scrutiny over the $24 million in campaign contributions he made during last year’s midterm elections. In court filings, federal authorities have claimed that most of the $90 million contributed to political candidates by a handful of former FTX employees, including Mr. Salame, had been misappropriated from customers of the exchange.

The search of Mr. Salame’s $4 million house signals that federal authorities are not done with their investigation into FTX’s collapse as they prepare for Mr. Bankman-Fried’s trial set in October. They are scrutinizing an array of employees and advisers in the former crypto mogul’s orbit, including Mr. Bankman-Fried’s younger brother. Jason Linder, a lawyer for Mr. Salame, did not respond to a request for comment.

Federal authorities examine $24 million in political donations.

An F.B.I. spokeswoman declined to comment.

It is unclear what the authorities were looking for during the search, which took place around 7 a.m., according to a person who sent a photo of F.B.I. agents gathered outside the home to The New York Times.

A native of Sandisfield, Mass., a town in the Berkshires, Mr. Salame worked for EY, the global accounting and consulting firm, before working for Mr. Bankman-Fried at Alameda Research, a crypto hedge fund that was based in Hong Kong.

He soon became one of Mr. Bankman-Fried’s most trusted lieutenants. After FTX relocated to the Bahamas in 2021, Mr. Salame served as an intermediary between the company and the local government, and he was appointed co-chief executive of FTX Digital Markets, the exchange’s Bahamian business entity.

Mr. Salame became enormously wealthy as the crypto market boomed and FTX reached a $32 billion valuation. Bankruptcy lawyers and advisers for FTX said in March that Mr. Salame received $87 million in bonuses and loans from Alameda. He was one of a half-dozen top executives who received a total of $3.2 billion in payouts.

Mr. Salame split his time between Washington and the Bahamas, and he started dating Michelle Bond, who ran a crypto lobbying group and campaigned unsuccessfully for Congress as a Republican from Long Island. At home in the Berkshires, Mr. Salame bought several local restaurants, some that were struggling during the height of the pandemic, which earned him a reputation as a hometown hero.

Mr. Salame and Ms. Bond also bought the home that was searched on Thursday, located in an exclusive Washington suburb.

Prosecutors have said Mr. Bankman-Fried orchestrated a “straw donor” scheme to avoid limits on campaign contributions, recruiting executives to serve as proxies for his company and donate tens of millions of dollars to both parties.

A revised indictment against Mr. Bankman-Fried recently identified Mr. Salame’s donations as part of the scheme.

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF DELAWARE
In re: VIRGIN ORBIT HOLDINGS, INC., et al., Chapter 11 Case No. 23-10405 (KBO) Debtors. (Jointly Administered)

NOTICE OF DEADLINE FOR FILING OF PROOFS OF CLAIM, INCLUDING FOR CLAIMS ASSERTED UNDER SECTION 503(b)(9) OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE
On April 4, 2023 (the “Petition Date”), the above-captioned debtors and debtors in possession (collectively, the “Debtors”) filed voluntary petitions for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the “Court”).

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that on April 26, 2023, the Court entered an order (the “Bar Date Order”) establishing certain dates by which parties holding prepetition claims against the Debtors must file proofs of claim, including requests for payment pursuant to section 503(b)(9) of the Bankruptcy Code (the “Proof(s) of Claim”).

BAR DATES. The Bar Date Order establishes the following bar dates for the filing of Proofs of Claim in the Chapter 11 Cases (collectively, the “Bar Dates”):

General Bar Date. Except as otherwise set forth herein, on or before 5:00 p.m. (prevailing Eastern Time) on May 26, 2023 (the “General Bar Date”), all persons or entities holding or wishing to assert a claim against the Debtors or their estates arising or accruing prior to the Petition Date, including a claim arising under Bankruptcy Code section 503(b)(9), are required to file a separate, completed, and executed Proof of Claim in accordance with the requirements of the Bar Date Order.

(a) Governmental Bar Date. All governmental units holding claims against the Debtors that arise or are deemed to have arisen before the Petition Date are required to file Proofs of Claim by October 2, 2023 at 5:00 p.m., prevailing Eastern Time. The Governmental Bar Date applies to all governmental units holding claims against the Debtors (whether secured, unsecured priority, or unsecured non-priority) that arose on or before the Petition Date, including government units with claims against the Debtors for unpaid taxes, whether such claims arise from prepetition taxes or periods or prepetition transactions to which the Debtors were a party.

(b) Rejection Damages Bar Date. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, any person or entity that asserts a claim that arises from the rejection of an executory contract or unexpired lease must file a Proof of Claim based on such rejection by the later of (i) the applicable Bar Date or the Government Bar Date, for any government units who are contract counterparties; or (b) 5:00 p.m. (prevailing Eastern Time) on the date that is 30 days following service of an order on the affected counterparty approving such rejection (the “Rejection Damages Bar Date”).

(c) Amended Schedules Bar Date. If the Debtors amend their schedules of assets and liabilities (collectively, the “Schedules”), then the deadline to submit a Proof of Claim for those creditors affected by such amendments will be the later of (i) the applicable Bar Date or the Government Bar Date, for any government units who are contract counterparties; or (b) 5:00 p.m. (prevailing Eastern Time) on the date that is 30 days from the date that the Debtors provide written notice to the affected creditor that the Schedules have been amended (the “Amended Schedules Bar Date”).

PERSONS OR ENTITIES WHO MUST FILE A PROOF OF CLAIM. Unless not required to file a Proof of Claim pursuant to the terms of the Bar Date Order, any person or entity (including, without limitation, each individual, partnership, joint venture, corporation, estate, trust, and governmental unit), that holds, or seeks to assert, a claim (as defined in section 101(5) of the Bankruptcy Code) against the Debtors that arose, or is deemed to have arisen, before the Petition Date is required to file a Proof of Claim by the applicable Bar Date, notwithstanding that such claims may not have matured, are contingent, or have not become fixed or liquidated before or as of the Petition Date.

CLAIMS FOR WHICH NO PROOF OF CLAIM IS REQUIRED TO BE FILED. Notwithstanding the above, holders of the following claims are NOT required to file a Proof of Claim on or before the applicable Bar Date safely with respect to such claim: (a) a claim against the Debtors for which a signed Proof of Claim has already been properly filed with the Clerk of the Court or Kroll Restructuring Administration LLC (“KRA”) in a form substantially similar to Official Bankruptcy Form No. 410; (b) a claim that is listed on the Debtors’ Schedules (and only if) such claim is not scheduled as “disputed,” “contingent,” “unliquidated,” and (ii) the holder of such claim agrees with the amount, nature, and priority of the claim as set forth in the Schedules; and (iii) the holder of such claim agrees that the claim is an obligation of the specific Debtor that listed the claim in its Schedules; (c) an administrative expense claim allowable under sections 503(b) and 507(a)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code as an expense of administration; (d) an administrative expense claim for postpetition fees and expenses incurred by any professional allowable under sections 330, 331, and 503(b) of the Bankruptcy Code; (e) a claim that has been paid in full by the Debtors in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code or an order of the Court; (f) a claim that has been allowed by an order of the Court entered on or before the applicable Bar Date; (g) a claim of any Debtor against another Debtor; (h) any fees payable to the United States Trustee under 28 U.S.C. § 1930; (i) a claim of any DIP Secured Party and Prepetition Secured Lender; and (j) a claim for which specific deadlines have been fixed by an order of the Court entered on or before the applicable Bar Date.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that any Claimant exempted from filing a Proof of Claim pursuant to paragraph A above must still properly and timely file a Proof of Claim for any other claim that does not fall within the exemptions provided by paragraph A above. As set forth above, creditors are not required to file a Proof of Claim with respect to any amounts that have already been paid by the Debtors.

WHEN AND WHERE TO FILE. All Claimants must submit (by overnight mail, courier service, hand delivery, regular mail, or in person) an original, written Proof of Claim that substantially conforms to the Proof of Claim Form so as to be actually received by KRA, the Debtors’ claims and notice agent, by no later than 5:00 p.m. (prevailing Eastern Time) on or before the applicable Bar Date at the following address: Virgin Orbit Holdings, Inc.
